

Dear DeviceAnywhere Users,

This month, we have added over 70 new handsets to the device bank, including some exciting new handsets like the BlackBerry Bold, and over 30 new handsets in Germany!

We've also been hard at work on our DeviceAnywhere 4.2 release, due out in early December. This newsletter contains a brief preview of some of the features that will be available in 4.2; stay tuned for a special newsletter that will go out with the release with a detailed description.

For more DeviceAnywhere news, and to see the full list of new and upcoming handsets, please read on!

DeviceAnywhere Tips and Tricks

Did you know that you can Copy & Paste text into a DeviceAnywhere handset?

To Copy & Paste simply:

1. Select the text that you want to paste using your regular keyboard shortcut (Control+C).
2. Navigate to the appropriate screen in the selected DeviceAnywhere handset where you would like to enter your text.
3. Right click on the device and select Paste from Clipboard from the menu. The text will automatically be entered in the handset.

Note: Make sure that the appropriate key mapping mode is selected before pasting (i. e. Web for entering a URL).
